*WHO MURDERED CHIN FAN FOIN?
A TRUE STORY. A TRUE CRIME
MURDER MYSTERY.*

FEBRUARY 17, 2022
This Man Helped Popularize Chinese Food. But His Death Remains Mysterious

On March 29, 1924, Chin Foin, the wealthiest restaurateur in Chicago's Chinatown, was found dying at the bottom of an elevator shaft in his own business, the Mandarin Inn. Some said it was a tragic accident, while others suspected foul play. Chin's wife wondered if her own brother had given her husband a fatal push in a fit of jealous rage. Others suggested it was the work of one of the tongs, the local Chinese crime syndicates.
